PRICE THREE CENTS

LONDON

Is Again in the Throes of a Riot.

Striking Operatives Sack Store Houses and the Police are to Be Reinforced.

Two Men are Torn to Bits by an Explosion of Giant Powder in a Coal Mine.

HOUSES RANSACKED.

Another Demonstration in London.

By Cable to the SENTINEL. LONDON, Feb. 12.—The striking operatives in the hosiery factory of Leicester have renewed their riotous demonstrations to-day. They attacked and sacked several houses. The police were resisted, many being injured. The authorities have ordered the appointment of special policemen.

A HORRIBLE STORY.

A Hundred Thousand Cattle and 100 People Reported Frozen.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Feb. 12.—Hon. John Hannon, of this city, has received a letter from a clergyman at Dodge City, who stated that during the recent severe weather there had been great destruction of life in his vicinity. The writer states that within a radius of 100 miles of Dodge City, 100,000 head of cattle have frozen to death, and that 100 human beings are known to have perished and more than 100 have been missed since the commencement of the storm.

THE HOUSE

Is at Work Alone To-day.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The house went into committee of the whole, Mr. Hammond in the chair, on the private calendar.

The house committee on commerce to-day agreed to favorably report upon Representative Belmont's bill authorizing the construction of a railroad bridge across the Staten Island sound at the Arthur Kill.

Hon. Allen G. Thurman arrived this morning and had a conference with Solicitor General Goode in regard to the Bell telephone case.

Terrible Mining Accident.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. St. Louis, Feb. 12.—A terrible mining accident occurred at Webb City last evening. Two miners in the employ of Page & Co. had located a heavy charge of giant powder for the final blast, and were stamping it down, when the whole amount exploded. The two men, Welch and Peterson, were literally blown to pieces, the largest fragments of the bodies found being a foot and portion of the lower limb.

Ohio Valley Railroad Directors.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 12.—The stockholders of the Ohio Valley railroad elected the following directors: Edward E. Winslow, George H. Davis, George Watkins and Horace Parter, of New York; W. W. Franklin, Columbus; Marcus Boggs, Chillicothe, Ohio; George Davis, Portsmouth; John Groyce, Circleville, and Dill Wiegand, of South Bloomfield. Twenty-one shares of stock were voted.

Lost for Twenty Years.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. LA PORTE, Ind., Feb. 12.—Twenty years ago next April Curtis Travis received a certificate of deposit for $150 on the Bank of the State of Indiana, of this city. Travis died twelve years ago and all traces of the certificate was lost. A few days ago the widow of the deceased discovered the paper, which was presented to the bank, where it was cashed.

The Orange Trees Safe.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. GAINESVILLE, Fla., Feb. 12.—The state press association has made a declaration concerning the effect of the recent cold on the orange crop in which it says that no material injury has been done to the trees.

Swindled Out of $5,000.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. BLOOMINGTON, ILL., Feb. 12.—Confidence men relieved George Radner, an old citizen and a retired merchant, of $5,000, by the lottery swindle, and made good their escape.

Syrups Reduced.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—The California Sugar refinery has made a reduction of 10 cents on syrups per gallon.

ABOUT HOME

And the Gossip of the Neighborhood.

Mr. Wm. H. Bennett will take possession of the postoffice at Bluffton this week.

The Quakers, of Wayne county talk of forming a league and becoming a power in politics.

Toad leap and Licks'illet are the euphonious names given to two places in Shelby county.

There are five business houses vacant in Franklin at present. Such a thing has not been known for a number of years.

Chesley Chambers, the Monon express robber, has been received in the southern prison and now wears a suit of zebra clothing.

Cornelius Neal, has been sent to the penitentiary from Terre Haute for grand larceny. He is said to be a young man of good family.

Filis & Serodino, hardware dealers of Connorsville, have made an assignment to J. W. Ross. Liabilities estimated at $11,000; assets, $8,000.

Rev. Everett B. Thompson, who has been the pastor of Center church at Crawfordsville for four years, has resigned because of failing health.

Madame Mitchell, a fortune teller, is wanted at Lafayette, Crawfordsville and other points, where she is charged with swindling a large number of gullible people.

Gibson county has a female school teacher who has been engaged in school teaching for about thirty years, and for about fourteen years of that time has been employed in one school, where she is still engaged.

The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer thinks the fine Italian hand of ex-Congressman Calkins is visible in the opposition to the confirmation of Ed Hawkins, of LaPorte, as United States marshal.

Eb Henderson, Jap Turpen, Harry Francis, Hughes East and a host of other democrats are beginning to fear that Judge Buskirk received the last plum from the administration, and that they are to be left out in the cold.

The manuscript for the thirty-fifth annual report of the state board of agriculture will be ready for the press next week. Secretary Heron says that, as usual, the Indiana report will be the first issued, and that this year it will be unusually interesting.

The Indiana Republican Editorial association, of which Mr. W. H. Elliott, of the New Castle Courier, is president, and Mr. J. O. Hardesty, of Indianapolis, secretary, will hold its annual meeting in Indianapolis, in the federal court room, on February 25 and 26.

Secretary Metcalf, of the state board of health, says that the health officers' convention to be held at Indianapolis on the 18th inst. will be largely attended. It is especially desired that every one interested in sanitary matters will attend. Reduced rates have been secured over most of the railroads.

A son of James Harrison, one of the well-to-do farmers in the northern part of Wayne county, was to have been brought to Richmond for medical treatment, the family fearing that his melancholy would lead to something worse. While preparations were being made for the journey he went to an upper room and blew out his brains with a gun.

The breach of promise suit of Miss Ada Hay vs. John King, brought on change of venue from Clark county to the Floyd circuit court, has been settled by compromise. Mr. King pays Miss Hay $650, and also pays all costs of the litigation, which has been pending several years, and which amounts to nearly $1,000.

The old Barnett house, at Logansport, which was condemned by the city council last fall, has been torn down and the timber and stone removed. This was one of the oldest hotels in the northern part of the state, and during the palmy days of the Wabash and Erie canal was known far and wide. A handsome business block will be constructed on the old site.

The farm residence of John Fessler, three miles north of Bourbon, occupied by himself, as his wife had left him on account of dissipation, and his children all grown up and away from home, was burned to the ground at noon yesterday. Mr. Fessler's remains were found in the ruins, burned almost beyond recognition. There is no doubt that he fired the house and committed suicide.

The fees on the Toledo, Cincinnati and St. Louis narrow gauge cases, which have come to an end, so far as this court is concerned, at least, were rather stiff.

A further decree was made last evening, ordering the payment of the following amounts: $12,600 in fees upon the two divisions; $5,000 to Charles Fairbanks for legal services; $12,500 to McDonald, Butler & Mason; $3,000 each to Master Commissioner Fishback and Receiver McNulta; $12,500 to Baker, Hord & Hendrick; $1,000 to the estate of Thomas A. Hendricks as trustee.

The Indiana Prohibition central committee, of which Col. Eli P. Ritter is chairman, held a meeting at Indianapolis Thursday. There was a general sentiment in favor of placing a state ticket in the field, without waiting, as they have hitherto done, to see what concessions, if any, the other parties would make. May 26 was fixed as the time for holding the convention, and it will be held in English's opera house. It was decided to issue an address to the prohibitionists, advising them to nominate candidates for trustees in all the townships of the state where there is any possibility of securing votes and to perfect thorough organizations.

ELECTRICAL INVENTIONS.

Telegraphing Through the Air to a Flying Railroad Train.

New York, Feb. 12.—Still more of the marvelous powers of the agency which we call electricity are demonstrated in the last invention for telegraphing from a moving train. The device is the joint work of W. Wiley Smith, Thomas Edison and E. T. Gililand. Edison himself, pleased as a school boy, was aboard our train the other day when the device was tested. It is astonishingly simple, now that one knows how the invention works. The principle involved is that of telegraphy by induction, that is to say, by electrical currents leading through the air. One well known quality of electricity is that it will jump through the atmosphere from one good conductor to another for a distance of over 400 feet. This property is the one taken advantage of in the new invention. The ordinary telegraph wires passing along all railway lines convey the message the lengthwise distance. Thence it jumps, when it reaches the train, from the telegraph lines to the tin roofs of the cars. These are connected by a copper wire. In a little bunk in one of the cars sits the telegraph operator. Over his ears he has two telephone sound receivers, as you see in the illustration.

TELEGRAPHY ON THE TRAIN. The electric current passes from the wires through the air in waves at the rate of 500 feet per second. These form a continuous musical note. They strike the metal roofs of the car, connected by a wire. These act as an electric condenser, so called. A wire passes from them to the telephone receivers above the operator's ears. By means of these his quick ear catches the sound. By striking exceedingly quick, sharp strokes the sender is able to break the musical sound into notes. By practice he makes these short or long, as is desired. So the ear of the operator in the car catches the sounds, dot and dash, from an ordinary Morse key, and reads them. He has in the car with him an electro-magnet and a battery. When he telegraphs back the message jumps in the same manner from the roofs of the cars through the air to the wires, thence over them to the station. An electric condenser and the telephone receiver enable the operator to catch the sounds.

"But does not that interfere with the ordinary messages?" asked our correspondent. "Not at all," was the answer. "This new method is telegraphy by induction, not by direct transmission."

Our party that made the trial trip with the new invention over the Staten Island railway watched the experimenting in a state of pleased excitement. It was a perfect success.

By means of this railway collisions may be avoided entirely. Its value in this respect can hardly be overestimated. During this memorable trip we discussed the bearings of the new invention on the future of railroading. For one thing, it will probably break up sudden trips of bank presidents to Canada for their health. It is expected that the machine will be put into operation on roads between Canada and the United States first of all. Then a defrauded creditor can telegraph to a moving train upon any road and ascertain whether the defaulter he is looking for is on board.

HIGH COLLARS CAUSE CONSUMPTION.

If any of our dude readers have ever worn high collars, they will know with what difficulty they raise the phlegm located in the throat. The points of the collar press quite tightly against the tubes wherein the secretion is lodged, and in doing so almost close the small passages. To use an old expression, "what goes up must come down," and it is so in this case. If you wear a high collar and cannot raise the phlegm in your throat, it gradually falls down into your stomach and in the long run will produce consumption and poison the blood, besides producing and aggravating diseases of the throat.—Washington Hatchet.

DYING!

The Noblest Roman of Them All.

Horatio Seymour, the Farmer and Statesman, has Almost Reached the Other Shore.

The Life and Public Services of the Great Man Briefly Outlined.

GOVERNOR SEYMOUR.

The Great Statesman is Dying.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 12.—Ex-Governor Seymour is thought to be dying. The members of his family have been hastily summoned to his bedside.

UTICA, N. Y., 2 p. m.—Ex-governor Seymour cannot survive more than an hour and may die at any moment.

Hon. Horatio Seymour was born at Pompey, Onondaga county, New York, May 31, 1810. He was a college graduate, served in the New York assembly in 1841 and in 1852 was chosen governor of that state.

After a defeat in 1854 he was again elected governor in 1862. In 1868 he was nominated for the presidency and at the election Seymour and Blair received 2,703,600 votes against 3,013,188 for Grant and Colfax.

Mr. Seymour's farm home was at Deerfield near Utica.

A SUBSCRIPTION FUND

Being Raised for General Hancock's Widow.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 12.—As it became known here that General Hancock had no adequate fortune to leave his widow, a movement was set on foot to raise a fund for her benefit. The fund has been started by the gift of $1,000 each, by Messrs. A. J. Drexel and Geo. W. Childs, and these gifts have been coupled by the promise of more, if necessary.

General Hancock died poor and the fact being known to his friends and comrades, a subscription fund has been started for the widow. The plan was originated by Gen. W. F. Smith, Gen. J. B. Fry, William Burns and J. L. Crittenden. J. Pierpont Morgan is treasurer of the fund. These sums have been signed: Samuel J. Tilden, $1,000; William E. Grace, $500; M. B. Brown, $250; J. D. Crimmins, $250. The circular accompanying the subscription paper says the general was kept poor by calls upon his official hospitality and the constant charities which he gave to those in distress.

DEATH

Claims a Famous Sporting Man.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. DETROIT, Feb. 12.—Capt. Samuel H. Smithers, well known to sporting men throughout the country, died here yesterday morning, of typhoid pneumonia. He was born at Gallipolis, Ohio, sixty years ago and was for a long time a steamboat captain between Pittsburgh and New Orleans. An army paymaster, named Cook, gambled away $300,000 of government money in Cincinnati during the war, and Smithers being in the game was obliged to visit Canada. By furnishing valuable information from rebel fugitives in that country, he gained leave of the federal government to return unmolested, and since that time has lived here, being known as the owner of a number of fast horses during the last fifteen years. He leaves a widow and an estate valued at $30,000.

Acquitted.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. HUNTINGTON, IND., Feb. 12.—The case of Krieg and Heitz, charged with manslaughter, was given to the jury to-day, at 11:40 a. m., and at 1:30 they returned a verdict of not guilty. The case was in relation to the death of Policeman Kinkade last May. Kinkade attempted to arrest Krieg, a fight ensued, and the policeman fell out of the wagon where the fight was in progress, receiving injuries which resulted in his death.

A Striker Arrested.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. MOUNT PLEASANT, Pa., Feb. 12.—Peter Wise, president of the strikers' organization, was arrested this morning and taken to the Uniontown jail. Charges of riot and assault will be preferred against him.

A City Submerged.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Feb. 12.—The Raritan river has overflowed its banks and submerged the lower part of the city.

The lower portion of Trenton is also submerged. On Fair and Bridge streets the water is even with the second stories. The Pennsylvania railroad between here and New York has suspended the running of trains.

Soldier's Bodies Removed.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. GOVERNOR'S ISLAND, L. I., Feb. 12.—Three hundred bodies of soldiers from the burying ground on Governor's Island were yesterday deposited in new graves in the national cemetery on Cypress Hills, Newtown. Some of the remains were buried nearly one hundred years.

Murdered and Eaten by Hogs.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 12.—The body of Alexander Mauldin, thirteen years old, was found on the streets of Toccoa, yesterday morning, partially eaten by hogs. He had been murdered during the night. There is no clue to the murderer.

Fire Record.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. BRIDGEPORT, Ill., Feb. 12.—Six business establishments burned at midnight. Loss, $30,000; partly insured.

WORKSHOP HINTS.

To cement leather on iron use the following: Add about one-fifth in bulk of boiled linseed oil to melted glue, when it will be found to be tough.

A good method of holding long bars of iron, such as sled shoes, so that the holes can be drilled in them easily by one person, is as follows: Take a strong quarter-inch cord or rope and fasten it to the ceiling about five, six or seven feet from the drilling machine. Then fasten a pound nut on the end of the rope and let it reach nearly to the floor. When you wish to drill iron, wrap the rope around the iron once at the height you want, and you will find it a very handy tool. You can drive a nail so as to hang it up out of the way when not in use.

A country blacksmith gives the following method for putting cast steel in axes and for welding and tempering it. He welds with borax melted into a kind of hard, glassy substance, and then pulverized to a powder in a mortar. He uses a solution of chalk, salt and sal ammoniac in water, though he finally discards it for clear water. Hammer mill picks swell in water, and when they are cooled off dress them up nice and true with a file, leaving the center a little full, then temper in cold water without drawing down at all. Many tools are damaged by heating too hot in tempering. If steel is heated too hot it is impossible to temper it so it will hold a good edge.

Varnish is the only material for suspending brushes in. Oil, turpentine, and the like may be the favorite of the painter, but he makes a mistake, and if he will change from the old-time oil and varnish in his varnish-brush keeper, he will never regret it. Keep the paint brushes suspended in salt water, the four color brushes greased and nicely laid away in a box or drawer, the varnish tools in the same kind of varnish you are to use them in, and under no circumstances allow water, oil, or turpentine to touch them.

For cleaning brass use powdered rotten-stone. Put it into a pint of water, add a teaspoonful of sulphuric acid, apply, then rub off and polish with whiting. To clean steel use emery powder mixed with turpentine.—Blacksmith and Wheelwright.

NELSON'S COAT.

In the Sailors' Hospital at Greenwich, England, there is a collection of curiosities, among which is exhibited Nelson's coat, in which he was killed at the battle of Trafalgar. It will be remembered that at that memorable battle Nelson refused to remove a large star from his breast, and the beautiful order was the means of his death, for it was made the aim of a Frenchman's bullet. The blood-stains where the order had lain remain to this day a memento of his bravery.

Writing from Paris a correspondent relates the following curious story: "Two French women entered into a contest to determine which of them could talk fastest. A common friend was appointed umpire, and the sum of 1,000 francs was to go to the victor. For three hours they read from Eugene Sue's feuilleton, and during that time the victor succeeded in pronouncing 226,311 words. Her adversary came in a bad second with 203,560 words."

I would hereby express my favorable opinion of your goods from benefit derived, writes Rev. Jacob D. Wyandt, of Justus, O., in sending an order for Athlaphoras, after a trial of it as a remedy for rheumatism and neuralgia.

A FREIGHT TRAIN

Knocks a Dummy Out and Injures Passengers.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. CINCINNATI, Feb. 12.—The local freight on the Little Miami railroad ran into the Mount Lookout dummy, at the crossing in the extreme eastern part of the city last night, and broke the dummy to pieces. Its engineer, Henry Coons, was probably fatally injured. Mrs. Mears, Mrs. Tinley and Mrs. Smith, all of Mount Lookout, were injured, as was also the conductors, Mullen and Conway.

SKATING RINK BURNED.

Mansfield Murphy Meetings Will Hereafter Be Held in the Churches.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. MANSFIELD, O., Feb. 12.—The large West Side skating-rink, where Francis Murphy has been holding temperance meetings, burned to the ground. The fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary. The loss will be $5,000. Arrangements have been made to hold the meetings in the churches, and no breaking in the temperance work will occur.

An Insult to Judge Tourgee.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. LOGANSPORT, Feb. 12.—During Judge Tourgee's lecture at the opera house some one induced two small boys to black their faces and walk out on the stage. The first time the youngsters appeared they carried a broken pitcher and tumbler, and placed them on the stand beside the lecturer's side, but he paid no particular attention to them. In a short time they came to the front again, and the distinguished gentleman ordered them off the stage. It is thought that some partisan fool urged the youngsters.

A Wife-Murderer Hung.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 12.—Charles Herman, a butcher, was hanged here to-day, for the murder of his wife in November. On the scaffold Herman said he was there by the fault of others. He said Ziegler was the robber of his wife. He robbed his home, and took his wife away from him.

THE MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the SENTINEL. New York, Feb. 12.—The stock market opened irregular, but the changes showed gains of $\frac{1}{4}$ to 1 per cent. over last evening. The market was strong until near 11 o'clock, when it yielded and became dull and heavy. Money easy at $\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 per cent. New York, Feb. 12.—Wheat, $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ higher. No. 2 red, January, 93 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 93 $\frac{1}{2}$. Corn $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ higher. Mixed Western 49 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 50. CHICAGO MARKET. could express the agony I endured from Rheumatism, and it was all I could do to endure it. Crisp, not able to walk or sleep, I took two-thirds of a bottle of ATROPHOROS and in a few days was well. T. K. CHAFFIN, 285 12th Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis.

Such is the universal testimony of all who have used ATROPHOROS which is the only remedy for Rheumatism that has ever had a successful sale; and it sells because it is a sure, safe, speedy cure. ATROPHOROS contains no opium or other dangerous or addictive ingredients. It is absolutely safe, and is so pronounced by leading physicians of the country who prescribe it regularly for rheumatism and neuralgia. If you have any doubt as to its merit, write to the manufacturer for names of parties in your own State who have been cured of rheumatism and neuralgia by its use.

Ask your druggist for ATROPHOROS. If you cannot get it of him we will send it express paid on receipt of regular price—$1.00 per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed.

OFFICIAL PAPER COUNTY AND CITY.

FRIDAY, FEB. 12, 1886.

The president receives between forty and fifty papers daily.

The Hon. John W. Kern is preparing a lecture on "John Brown" to be delivered before the Hendricks club, of Indianapolis shortly.

GENERAL SIMON CAMERON is to be elected an honorary member of Typographical union, No. 14, at its next meeting at Philadelphia.

It is significant of the extent to which boycotting has been carried in Ireland that a midwife declined to attend the wife of a prescribed man.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND has appointed more soldiers to office than any republican president ever did during the first year of his administration.

JOHN G. THOMPSON, a well known democratic politician in Ohio, who was recently appointed land claim agent for Washington territory, died at Seattle Wednesday.

The Logansport Pharos advises Northern Indiana democrats to stand solid for their candidates for state officers, and says that is the way the Southern Indiana democrats win.

The United States government is the greatest printer and publisher in the world. The number of publications issued annually amounts to about 2,500,000, of which about 600,000 are bound volumes.

"I was born a Protestant, I was bred a Protestant and I hope to die a Protestant," was the pithy phrase in Mr. Parnell's parliamentary reply to the charge that home rule would effect a Roman Catholic supremacy in Ireland.

STATUTE, as connected with heredity, has recently been investigated by Francis Dalton; and among his first results is the inference that the height of children of both sexes, but especially that of the daughters, takes after that of the father.

MR. BLAINE'S Augusta organ says the republicans of the senate are making a mistake in calling upon the president to submit to them the causes for removals. It says this will make a fight and the fight will unite the democratic party for the president.

MR. TILDEN was set aside at Cincinnati in 1880 as a presidential possibility on the plea of poor health. General Hancock, a man of superb physical characteristics, was selected. It is rather odd that the day on which the distinguished soldier died was the birthday of the eminent civilian.

REPRESENTATIVE HEARD, of Missouri, is a new man in Congress (says the New York Tribune), but he has read the papers and learned that "cold tea" means grog. So the other day he went into the House restaurant for a lunch, and ordered a cup of that cheering beverage. Surely enough, the waiter did bring veritable tea. Whereupon, "See here, my man," whispered Heard, in deep disgust, "don't you know that when a gentleman orders 'cold tea' he means whisky?" "O, yes, sah," said the waiter; "yes, sah! I'll make it all right, sah!" And removing the tea he walked up to the counter and demanded in tones audible half-way across the Potomac, "Whisky for one!"

QUEEN VICTORIA is seriously angry at the treachery of some member of the royal household, who, it seems, has been for some time communicating to the gossip columns of the London Truth those paragraphs which disclose for the first time to the gaze of the subject multitude the inner life of the court. So much has the breach of trust been taken to heart by her Majesty that it appears several inspectors of the detective police have been temporarily added to the household, and some of them were received as distinguished visitors from the German court. These agents are employed to discover the purveyor of illicit intelligence; but the secret has been so well kept that their effort and intelligence have been baffled.

THE TELEPHONE TROUBLE.
The Bell telephone people are making a vigorous fight for the retention of their patent rights, and no one would wonder if their zeal lingered at that point. The monopolists, however, to strengthen themselves and weaken the administration, are endeavoring to besmirch Attorney General Garland. The republicans, of course, come to the rescue of the telephone shysters and strive to make "much ado about nothing." The idea is conveyed that Mr. Garland was given stock in the Pan Electric company to forward his warfare on the Bell patents, but the attorney-general says: "The report that I have received gifts of the Pan-Electric stock, or am a donee of that company, are not correct. People seem to have forgotten my letter to the president, dated October 5, 1885. Turning to that letter, the attorney-general read this sentence: 'About three years ago I, with some six or seven other gentlemen, entered into an organization known as the Pan-Electric Telephone company, based upon what was called the Rogers invention. We formed that company in good faith, and started it in its operations,' etc. You will see from this, said the attorney-general, that I was one of the original incorporators of this company, and as such entitled to stock."

ACCORDING to a recent cable dispatch from London, the Provost Marshal at Mandalay has had lately to superintend the execution of numbers of Burmese Dacoits. Not content with having them shot down in an ordinary business fashion, the Provost Marshal, who has a morbid taste for amateur photography, has on several occasions added unspeakable torture to his victims' death-pangs by delaying the interval between orders to "present" and "fire" long enough to allow him to take two or three negatives with the camera he carries about with him. He pleads scientific interest as an excuse for his barbarity, but so far he has nothing even scientific to show in self-defense, for, being a poor hand at photography, his attempts to fix the horror and anguish of violent death on his negatives have been abortive. The Provost Marshal's methods were so leisurely that the absence of results is surprising. Having had the prisoners drawn up in line against the wall, he would station the firing platoon before them and get the camera into position and calmly prepare his plates. The officer commanding the soldiers was instructed not to give the fatal signal till the plate was exposed. Thus the most interesting negatives were obtained at the very moment of the prisoner's death agony.

THE potency of the mind cure has been shown down in Mason County, Ill., under the most adverse circumstances, says the Chicago Tribune. A citizen who had scoffed at the idea, and held that the mind cure could only heal in the cases of people who had no mind, met a professor a couple of weeks ago and with pretended seriousness desired the mind-cure people to work on his brother-in-law, who for years had been afflicted with a stiff leg. Treatment was commenced at once, and was continued, without the brother-in-law's knowledge, up to a few days ago, when the scoffer brought in his relative and showed the mind-cure people that his relative had a wooden leg. He was preparing to laugh at them heartily when his brother-in-law took him down a peg by assuring him that within the time mentioned the knot holes in his wooden leg had grown up, and were apparently as solid as any other portion, a dry rot that had set in had been arrested, and there were indications that the wood was preparing to bud out in the spring. The scoffer was confounded, and the mind-cure people proportionately delighted. They will try it on a political stump next summer.

THE Moscow Gazette is doing a very creditable thing, and one which might with advantage be imitated, in publishing a short series of articles dealing with the diseases most prevalent among school children, and not only mentioning each disease, but giving full descriptions of the first symptoms attending them, and pointing out to teachers and schoolmasters how, by means of proper ventilation, cleanliness, etc., much illness may be averted. This enlightening of the general public as to the first laws of health is the more praiseworthy as the middle and lower classes in Russia are desperately ignorant of them, the consequence being that most Russian children are puny, sickly creatures, ill-fitted to stand the rigor of the northern climate. The death-rate of children in Russia is accordingly extremely high, and elementary schools are the worst breeding-places of disease.

Red Star Cough Cure.
Dr. C. Fawcett, for thirty years physician of the Union Protestant Hospital, Baltimore, Md., says he has used it with marked effect for obstinate cough and for consumption.

The only sure and reliable Constitutional Nerve and Tonic for enfeebled constitutions and nervous debility is Nichols' Bark and Iron. It is infallible in its action and permanent in its effects.

JUDGE POWER, of New York, is a man to whom one can wish more power to his elbow. He gave a powerful decision last week. Mrs. Griswold had a husband that abused her. He was imprisoned. Like many mistaken wives she pleaded with Judge Power for his release. The Judge at first refused. Then he said: "I will let your husband out, but I will parole him in your charge. If he acts badly you only have to surrender him to the first policeman you meet and he will be returned to the Tombs." This decision was somewhat level-headed. Griswold's wife is now practically his jailer. She can have him locked up the moment he becomes troublesome. If more wives had that inestimable privilege there would not be so many bad husbands in this wicked world.

GENERAL LONGSTREET thinks that his uncle, William Longstreet, of Augusta, Ga., should share with Robert Fulton the laurels of the inventor of steamboats. This ingenious Georgian was big with his ideas as early as 1788, but it was not until 1808 that he successfully ran a boat by steam in the Savannah. He suffered much ridicule, and it was of him that the scuffer sang throughout Dixie thus:

Can you row the boat ashore,
Billy-boy, Billy-boy?
Can you row the boat ashore,
Gentle Billy?

Can you row the boat ashore,
Without a paddle or an oar,
Billy-boy?

Is a very prevalent and exceedingly disagreeable disease, liable, if neglected, to develop into serious consumption. Being a constitutional disease, it requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acting through the blood reaches every part of the system, effecting a radical and permanent cure of catarrh in even its most severe forms. Made only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

THE Czar of all the Russias is the latest notable recruit to the army of amateur photographers. He has had a complete apparatus sent out to him through the medium of the Russian Embassy in London, and is already, it is reported, making the lives of his personal attendants burdens to them, owing to his pertinacious attempts to "take" them.

Hop plasters are clean, sweet and pleasant to use. Fresh hops combined with balsams and gums. More powerful than any other porous plasters. 25 cents.

DR. A. C. HOXSIE'S CERTAIN CROUP CURE. This preparation, a private and original prescription, was extensively used in an unlimited practice for many years, with perfect success by the late A. C. Hoxsie, M. D., of Buffalo, N. Y. Having thoroughly tested and tried this remedy, he had no hesitation in pronouncing it positive, swift and sure to cure Croup in its most aggravated form, when administered promptly and according to directions. Its powerful and direct effect upon the diseased mucous membrane, render it particularly invaluable to those living at a distance from a physician—as it is seldom necessary to call in professional aid. If the "Certain Croup Cure" is near at hand, it is powerful and effectual, it contains no opium in any form, nor any drug which can have a deleterious or injurious effect upon the system. The delicate infant may take it, as directed, with perfect safety. Price $1.00. For sale by all first-class druggists, wholesale and retail.

NERVE-LIFE AND VIGOR restored in men and women by using Gilmore's Aromatic Wine.

WHEN DOCTORS cannot help you then take Gilmore's Magnetic Elixir for your throat and lungs.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN who lack vigor and vitality can be cured by Gilmore's Aromatic Wine.

JAMES SULLIVAN of Salem, Ore. says he was cured of the Asthma by Gilmore's Aromatic Wine.

THE WIFE, MOTHER AND MAID who suffer from Female weakness, will find Gilmore's Aromatic Wine a positive cure.

For sale by Dreier & Bro's, and G. H. Gumpfer.

In the Dear Old Days.

We differ in creed and politics, but we are a unit all the same on the desirableness of a fine head of hair. If you mourn the loss of this blessing and ornament, a bottle or two of Parker's Hair Balsam will make you look as you did in the dear old days. It is worth trying. It is the only standard 50c article for the hair.

The Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railway will sell excursion tickets to Chicago February 15 for one fare for the round trip, tickets good to return until February 21.

FRIDAY, FEB. 12, 1886.

THE CITY.

Valentine flash in the show windows. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at the Academy to-night.

Lake suckers are already appearing in the market here.

J. P. Evans, of Fort Wayne, was at Indianapolis yesterday.

Col. Jim Humphrey, of the Bliss house, Bluffton, is in the city.

The police court business is a thing of the past. The police are too efficient.

The Pittsburg and Nickel Plate roads run rival excursions to Chicago next Monday.

Dr. G. W. Bowen is recovering from a serious illness, and expects to be at his office to-morrow.

The Wabash shops were closed last evening for the rest of the week. This is to curtail expenses.

Wm. Phillips, a bright fellow who used to teach school in Maumee township, is now at the poor house. He is a wreck.

Mrs. George Seibold died Wednesday, at Smiley, Ohio, of puerperal fever. Her remains were brought here yesterday afternoon for interment.

John Howard, a Bloomingdale comedian, has made his debut at the Metropolitan theatre and his friends are predicting a brilliant career for him.

It is estimated that the sexennial assessment of property in the state this year will show a decrease of valuation of $100,000,000, due to general depression.

Chief Diehl is determined to work a reform this summer in keeping the corners free of loafers. It is an admirable idea and will meet with universal and hearty approval.

Col. R. S. Robertson has returned from Cincinnati, where he sat with other distinguished soldiers at the banquet of the Loyal Legion. Col. F. F. Boltz will join the Loyal Legion this year.

W. B. Duryea, road-master of the Richmond, the southern extension of the Grand Rapids line, is dead. His skull was fractured in the injury he sustained yesterday, and which THE SENTINEL duly detailed.

Mr. Herbert Hartman was victorious in the pronouncing match at the Wayne street M. E. church last night. Miss Hattie Leonard, a bright young lady, closely contested for the prize, which was a costly gold pen.

Next Monday the Fort Wayne commandery will occupy their new quarters above the Temple opera house. It is anticipated the goat will be fractions at his removal and the Sir Knights express anxiety as to his behavior en route.

The railroads are becoming more and more the advocates of teetotalism among the employees, and now when any of the local men want to indulge they have to make a sneak on the rear door. Open bunnings is not tolerated by the officers of the company.

A. W. Hamilton, living about two miles north of Huntington, has missed one of his teams, wagon and harness, and they are supposed to be stolen. It was driven towards Fort Wayne. It is supposed they were taken by a farm hand he had working for him. The team was taken Monday night.

Daniel Christian, of Roanoke, who has twenty-five couples of fine chickens on exhibition at the poultry show on East Main street, was successful in carrying of first prize in most of the departments in which his fowls competed, and in some cases he also secured second prize at the great poultry show at Cincinnati.

"Some man from Fort Wayne, whose name we learn is Gump, is looking up a residence in North Manchester, with a view of removing here. We understand he intends to purchase, and make this his future home. He is said to have all the wealth necessary to make life desirable and add comfort to his new home," says a North Manchester correspondent of the Huntington Democrat.

Ed Morey, an old time Wabash conductor, but who has been living in Boulder, Colorado, having been obliged to move there on account of his poor health over two years ago, has returned with his family to Fort Wayne and has resumed work on the Wabash road. One of his sons, who is a telegraph operator, has secured employment on the extra list on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railway and for the present is assigned to the Columbia City office.

"First rate sugar weather," says one old resident to another, as they meet on these warm February days that thaw aloft on the nights shallow freeze. It is the right sort of weather to start the pleasant current of the sugar tree's veins, but as yet no intimation has reached the vagrant reporter in his rambles that anybody about the city is using the opportunity. There is no such urgency now as there used to be in the last generation, when the only sugar to be had was "home-made sugar." Nobody called it "maple" and nobody called the tree "maple."

Col. D. N. and Mrs. Foster are at Indianapolis to-day.

Buffalo suckers are being caught in Pyke lake, at Warsaw.

Nicholas Wyss and Addie Muenoh have been licensed to wed.

Miss L. Belle Colbath, of Lima, Ohio, is visiting friends in this city.

Henry Newhaus, the wall-paper salesman, is in the city for a brief vacation.

The "January thaw" was transferred to February this year, and it is now on hand.

Several Fort Wayne people will go to see Mary Anderson at Indianapolis next week.

A. F. Schoch and son Ed., of Fort Wayne, visited at Pleasant Lake last Sunday.

The first Singer sewing machine factory was started thirty six years ago in a Boston garret.

The mayor of Toledo has appointed a committee to solicit money for the proposed encampment.

Superintendent Stevens has an abiding faith in the bright future about to open to the Wabash, and has reasons for the faith within him.

Warden Murdock and wife, of the prison north, talk of making a short European tour, with the hope of benefiting the warden's health.

Albert Van Wagner is in jail at La-Grange for attempting to wreck a Grand Rapids train. The alleged criminal is but eighteen years of age.

Heege's "Bad Boy" was billed to-day, displaying some handsome paper. It is a very funny play and will be seen at the Academy the first half of next week.

Mrs. Herman Nathan, daughter of Mr. A. Oppenheimer, of this city, is very sick at her home in Chicago and her relatives have hastened to her bedside.

Mr. Henry Colerick, Mr. Will Oppenheimer and Prosecuting Attorney O. M. Dawson argued the Boyle case before the supreme court at Indianapolis to-day.

The presentation of the operetta, "The Land of Pie," under the auspices of the Rector's Aid society of Trinity church, has been postponed until one week from to-morrow.

It is now proposed to extend the T. D. and W. branch of the narrow gauge road to Van Wert. Then the line will be built through Indiana and can scarcely miss Fort Wayne.

Another dead body, purchased below Indianapolis, came in this morning for the Fort Wayne Medical college. The students are now supplied and eagerly they pick the human frame to pieces.

The indications for the lower lake region, as reported by the weather bureau at Washington to THE SENTINEL, are as follows: Cloudy, local rains, stationary, followed by slight fall in temperature.

The famous comedian, Mr. J. B. Polk, who will be seen at the Temple opera house next Wednesday evening in his great comedy success, "Mixed Pickles," comes directly from Chicago, where he is nightly packing the Grand opera house.

Nellie Kenninger, who came here from Toledo with her mother, was deformed by an attack of typhoid fever. Dr. M. F. Porter has the child in a plaster of paris cast at the St. Joe hospital and hopes to restore her to her former perfection of body.

Some Wabash employees have been discharged at Peru. No causes assigned, but the supposition is that the decapitated individuals "budged" too freely. The Wabash road is determined to have nothing to do with men who drink, as the experiment is too dangerous.

A large black bear was seen one day last week some few miles northwest of Roanoke. The man who states he saw the animal says he has killed and helped to kill a number of bears and knows this was a bear. The animal crossed the road before him and passed into the woods, just north of the Robin's saw mill, in Whitley county.

Messrs. O. A. Simons and A. D. Cressler have recently purchased and brought to this city one of the handsomest and best bred young trotting stallions in the west, "Hiatoga Wilkes" son of "Ambassador," he by "George Wilkes," the greatest son living or dead of the old hero of Chester, "Rysdyke Hambletonian." "Hiatoga Wilkes" is five years old, a rich seal brown in color, sixteen hands high and both hind ankles white.

The Wabash railway company don't propose to be pestered with garnishments for wages, as a recent circular issued by that company will cause its employees to be prompt in the payment of their own debts. The circular is as follows: "To all employees on the rolls of this station: Any person whose name appears on the rolls of this station, and who owes any debts that will naturally come to this office as claims against said individual, must either satisfy said claim at once or resign his position. This rule will be imperative, as the management of this company does not want to employ men who will not pay their honest debts. Any employee who places himself or herself in a position to be garnished will at once be discharged."

The Grand Rapids pay car will arrive to-morrow.

Freight engine 1392 was taken out of the Wabash shops to-day.

W. P. Griffith, of Terre Haute, is a guest at the Aveline house.

Mr. John H. Bass, Dr. Loag and J. R. Carey returned from Chicago last night.

The funeral of the infant daughter of Wm. P. Kindt occurred this afternoon.

The Nickel Plate and Pittsburg engineers race between Hobart and Valparaiso.

Mrs. George Ewing and her sister, Miss Puss Sweetzer, left for New York last evening.

Dr. C. B. Stemen will address the assembly at the temperance tabernacle, on Harrison street, to-night.

The "Shadows of a Great City" drew another big assembly last night. To-night and to-morrow night they appear at Lafayette.

Professor Deidrich, of the Concordia college, will return to the city in a few days. The operation on his foot was an entire success.

The deep interest in the revival services at the Berry street M. E. church still continues. Prof. Smith will address the meeting to-night.

Supt. and Mrs. W. W. Worthington give a progressive euchre party to their friends, at their pleasant West Berry street home, this evening.

The three-year old son of Nicholas Muller, of No. 296 East Washington street, died this morning from brain fever and will be buried Sunday.

Joseph Kress, a farm hand employed by Warren Robinson, of Pleasant township, was arrested to-day for assaulting Mrs. Robinson. Justice Ryan fined the young man.

Deputy Sheriff Wm. Shrader took Patrick Deegan to the state insane hospital to-day. It is expected that a brief treatment there will restore the man to perfect health.

Mrs. Mary Hilker, who fell on the sidewalk on Calhoun street some time ago and broke her knee-cap, is improving nicely and is now able to walk about in her apartments. She will entirely recover.

Edward, the infant son of James and Ellen Kline, died this morning at 11 o'clock. The funeral will take place on Sunday at 1 o'clock. Friends of the family are invited to attend without further notice.

Hon. W. B. Duryea, who was killed on the Richmond road yesterday, was the only democratic member of the common council of Portland, was a member of the G. A. R., and a man of much prominence in his section. He will be buried at Portland.

The Princess rink will be open on Saturday night for a general skate, and ladies will be admitted free. On Monday and Tuesday the Russian skaters will be the attraction, and on Wednesday and Thursday the Princess polo team will play the Galesburg polo club.

Dr. Meyer, once a resident of this city and later of Chicago, against whom the charge was made that he had attempted to poison his first wife, has secured a divorce from his second wife and has just returned from Germany and will resume the practice of his profession at Berne, Adams county.

The St. Bernard Branch, Catholic Knights of America, received a handsome silk flag from St. Mary's Catholic church. Mr. James Summers did the oratorical honors. The flag bears the emblem of the Catholic Knights and the name of the commandery. Later its reception will be signalized by a banquet.

The Gazette does County Commissioner John H. Brannan a grievous wrong this morning in stating that he "drew $165 from the county" and will have to disgorge. Mr. Brannan has made but $86 all told, since he went into office, and not a cent of it was illegal or for extra services. The Gazette, of course, will correct the error.

The poultry show continues to draw. The judge, Mr. J. Y. Bickwell, of Buffalo, N. Y., who receives five dollars per day for his services, commenced making awards yesterday and expects to conclude his work to-morrow morning. To-morrow will be school children's day and all the children of the city will be admitted to the show for five cents each.

Mr. H. C. Rockhill will arrive from Kentucky this evening, with six thoroughbred horses. The famous stallion "Strathmore" is owned jointly by Messrs. H. C. Rockhill, Will Fleming and Willis Bash. Messrs. Rockhill and Fleming own three fine brood mares. Mr. Bash owns a promising colt and Mr. W. L. Carnahan has a handy saddle horse.

Only three more opportunities will be presented to witness the dramatization of Mrs. Stowe's world famous novel, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" as presented by the Maxwell company at the Academy. As we have stated before, this company is one of the very best ever seen in this city and the house will doubtless be crowded to-night and to-morrow afternoon. At the children's matinee to-morrow afternoon school children will be admitted to any part of the house for 10 cents.

Beef is offered for sale daily on the market space.

The matinee at the Academy this afternoon was well attended.

Mrs. Michael Nelligan, who has been very sick, is improving slowly.

A Pittsburg switch engine lost a tire off one of its driving wheels to-day and is crippled.

"The Shadows of a Great City," will be seen at McVicker's theatre, Chicago, next week.

A. P. Essig, who manages the mail wagon between the postoffice and depot, is very sick with rheumatism.

The Little River ditch will be sold to-morrow by Mr. W. W. Shoaff, at the office of County Surveyor Wiley.

"Ed B. Wood, of Fort Wayne, was here on business yesterday. He brought up a convict," says the Michigan City Dispatch.

Aurilla Kigney, the woman who was discovered to be insane at the north side depot, was sent to Laurel, Ind., by Sheriff Nelson to-day.

"THE FORT WAYNE SENTINEL, under the management of Mr. Hackett, is one of the best daily and weekly papers in Indiana," says the Monroeville Breeze.

The number of section men on railroads, which was cut down last fall, will soon be increased again, as there is more work to do in the spring of the year than any other season.

All letters and sealed valentines are subject to a postage of two cents per ounce. Unsealed valentines without writing can be mailed at one cent per ounce. This is a pointer to the public.

The Pennsylvania company has some 5,000 empty coke cars idle on the side tracks, as a result of the strike east. If it continues long it will certainly unfavorably effect their earnings for February.

Mr. John H. Ormsby, candidate for clerk of Wells county, was in the city to-day. Mr. Ormsby is a sterling democrat, personally popular and a gentleman everywhere. He will be elected by a rousing majority.

Some railroader with a mathematical turn of mind has discovered that the whistling of a locomotive engine requires a waste of steam equal to 250 pounds of coal a day, and that the average expense of each railroad for maintaining the nuisance is $15,000 a year.

"Sam Purman, employed in the office of the engineer of the Nickel Plate railway, was shaking hands with the boys Sunday. Sam is the same jolly boy whom we all admire, and are glad to see his pleasant face on our streets," says the Monroeville Breeze.

Druggist Wm. Meyer, wife and daughter Paulina, Miss Lena Meyer, and Mrs. Dr. Sieman, went to St. Louis this afternoon, to attend the wedding of Mr. Frederick Sihler, son of the late Rev. Dr. Sihler, of this city, and Miss Matilda Meyer, daughter of Druggist Meyer, of St. Louis. The marriage will take place to-morrow.

"Charles A. Munson, of Fort Wayne, is the city to-day. Mr. Munson is a very formidable candidate for the democratic nomination for auditor of state. He is Jack Robinson's equal on entertaining a gathering, and if witicism counted for the nomination and election Mr. Munson would be the next auditor of state," says the Michigan City Dispatch.

Emel Wenzel, a brakeman on the main line of the Wabash, while coupling cars a week ago, met with a severe accident, having several ribs broken and his right arm crushed so badly that it was necessary to amputate it. He also sustained internal injuries, which resulted in his death at the home of his sister in Logansport, where he was buried yesterday.

The attachment suit of Charles W. Van Esen against the "Uncle Tom's Cabin" party came up before Justice France to-day on a change of venue. There was some controversy over the authority of Capt. Hugh M. Diehl, as special constable, but this was smoothed over and the "Uncle Tom's" people offered to compromise the claim of $196, by paying $65 cash. This proposition Mr. Van Esen was inclined to accept.

THEY WERE GOBBLED.

A Brace of Thieves Behind the Bars in Default of $300 Each.

Mrs. Sarah Clay, wife of Henry Clay, of the Bass foundry, and who lives at 177 Hanna street, in the east end, employs Mrs. Mary Kruss, a neighbor, to do her washing. Mrs. Kruss had the clothes on her premises. Last evening two tramps stole the choicest underwear from the line and made away with it. Deputy Sheriff Clausmeyer was speedily after the rascals, but they were shady until night-fall, when the fellows ran square into the arms of Police Officer Frank Rohla. He locked the men up and this morning they registered at police court as Geo. Parker and James Edwards. Mayor Muhler heard the case against them, and committed them to jail to await trial, in default of $300 bail each. The stolen clothes are worth from $8 to $10, and it looks as though the vags will pass a season or two on the shores of the lake, at Michigan City.

THEY COME HIGH.

But Loving Swains and Lipping Maids Must Have Their St. Valentine Souvenirs.

The weather is cloudy, but that fact stops not the pretty damsel in her search for a souvenir for St. Valentine's day. The book-stores were thronged yesterday and to-day by the fairest women. Men sort of sneak into these places at night, and a dude will lounge about a door way for an hour, until he sees the Valentine counter deserted.

The old style "cupid business" is out of date and hand painted plush or satin souvenirs are proper. They range in price from 25 cents to $20 and a Calhoun street dealer yesterday exhibited a bit of satin with a sleeping cupid lying in a bank of flowers. The price of this was $15. There was not so much satin for the money as was contained in a large fan, price $7, nor was the painting so good as on the fan. There did not seem to be much logic in the prices. Another very pretty trifle was a fan-shaped design of silk plush and white satin, trimmed with swan's down, lace and silk cords. This was decorated with a landscape surrounded by flowers that bloom in the spring. Its cost was $10, tra-la. Another valentine sat on an easel. It was a painting on satin, and on the metal scroll was the information, "I'll be your valentine," price only $8. Handkerchief boxes, bird's nests, jockey caps, bronze reliefs set in plush frames are among the expensive articles. There are many pretty and cheaper things and the maiden whose lover lets her sigh in vain for a love token on St. Valentine's day should "get a new boy;" there will be no excuse for such shameless neglect.

Statistics of the Railroad Reading Rooms for 1885.

The following figures are taken from the annual report of the room and library committee of the R. R. Y. M. C. A. for the year ending February 1, 1886: Total attendance at the rooms, 76,000; baths taken, 6,063; letters written by the men, stationary free, 2,161; number of religious services held in the parlors, 60; number of committee meetings, 55; number of sessions of evening classes, 18; volumes in the library, 700; volumes drawn from library from August 8 to February 1, 838; newspapers and magazines on file in reading room, 75. The gain in attendance the past year over the preceding has been 12,145.

ANNUAL MEETING

Of the Fort Wayne, Peoria and Galesburg Officers.

The annual meeting of the stockholders and directors of the Fort Wayne, Peoria and Galesburg Railway company was held at Peoria yesterday. H. M. Williams, of Fort Wayne, was elected president; Edwin Evans, of Fort Wayne, vice president; C. P. King, of Peoria, secretary, and Martin Kingman, of Peoria, treasurer. The road is one of the projects that still exist on paper, but is bound to be built. Aid has been voted the line in this county and the right of way has all been secured between Fort Wayne and Peoria.

The Seaman's Friend.

Mr. Samuel Plimsoll, a man who is known the world over as the seaman's friend, and who until last November was a member of the English parliament, is now visiting this country. His name is identified with the little circle in white paint, divided in the center by a line of white, which appears on the hulls of all British ships, marking the line to which a vessel may be safely loaded. The affixing of this mark was made compulsory by an act of parliament, in the passage of which Mr. Plimsoll was the prime mover. The object of the law being to protect seamen from the dangers of shipping on vessels which, through the cupidity of owners, had been overloaded. To load a ship until this mark is submerged is a punishable offense, and Mr. Plimsoll's efforts to secure the passage of the bill earned him the appellation of "the British sailor's friend." Mr. Plimsoll is accompanied by his wife, and will go directly to Florida, where he contemplates investing in land. He is a vigorous gentleman, past middle age, above the medium height, with a florid face framed with well-trimmed silver hair and beard. In manner he is courteous, and speaks with earnestness and precision.

SAMUEL PLIMSOLL.

A FARM-HOUSE IN NORWAY.

The first impression of a Norwegian farmstead is not very favorable. A cluster of houses, small and aged, crowd around a large dwelling-house, which generally looks somewhat dilapidated. But this appearance is deceptive, for the walls being of wood, they look old in a few years, and become blotched and scored by the weather. The roof is of the same material, or, in the case of the principal building, either of red tile or slab. Sometimes the dwelling-house is painted white, when the effect is to relieve the somber aspect of the group. The walls are usually stout and thoroughly waterproof, plank about four inches thick being used in their construction. These planks are placed edgewise on one another, crossed and countersunk at the angles, and calked in the seams with dry moss. A skin of thin wood is placed on the outside, while the interior is lined smoothly with boards. Inside there is an air of comfort and cleanliness. A table stands in the center of the chief room, and along the wall a bench runs, which serves for chairs of which there is usually a deficiency. From pots on the floor ivy is sometimes trained upward to the roof, giving the room a festive and refreshing look. Not unfrequently the worthy farmer is proud to have the dresses of his daughters hung in conspicuous positions, in order that swains who call may see that the damsels are well provided with garments in case of a matrimonial alliance. The cow-houses are generally an improvement on those usually seen in England and Scotland. The building is larger and more space is allowed to each animal, while a clean wooden floor is ordinarily beneath the animal. Little or no bedding is given. The level of the cow-house is in most cases raised high enough to allow of a space beneath, into which the refuse is regularly swept through an opening in the floor.

Terrible Mining Accident.

By Telegraph to the Sentinel.
St. Louis, Feb. 12.—A terrible mining accident occurred at Webb City last evening. Two miners in the employ of Page & Co. had located a heavy charge of giant powder for the final blast, and were stamping it down, when the whole amount exploded. The two men, Welch and Peterson, were literally blown to pieces, the largest fragments of the bodies found being a foot and portion of the lower limb.

The manuscript for the thirty-fifth annual report of the state board of agriculture will be ready for the press next week. Secretary Heron says that, as usual, the Indiana report will be the first issued, and that this year it will be unusually interesting.

The Indiana Republican Editorial association, of which Mr. W. H. Elliott, of the New Castle Courier, is president, and Mr. J. O. Hardesty, of Indianapolis, secretary, will hold its annual meeting in Indianapolis, in the federal court room, on February 25 and 26.

Secretary Metcalf, of the state board of health, says that the health officers' convention to be held at Indianapolis on the 18th inst. will be largely attended. It is especially desired that every one interested in sanitary matters will attend. Reduced rates have been secured over most of the railroads.

A son of James Harrison, one of the well-to-do farmers in the northern part of Wayne county, was to have been brought to Richmond for medical treatment, the family fearing that his melancholy would lead to something worse. While preparations were being made for the journey he went to an upper room and blew out his brains with a gun.

The breach of promise suit of Miss Ada Hay vs. John King, brought on change of venue from Clark county to the Floyd circuit court, has been settled by compromise. Mr. King pays Miss Hay $550, and also pays all costs of the litigation, which has been pending several years, and which amounts to nearly $1,000.

The old Barnett house, at Logansport, which was condemned by the city council last fall, has been torn down and the timber and stone removed. This was one of the oldest hotels in the northern part of the state, and during the palmy days of the Wabash and Erie canal was known far and wide. A handsome business block will be constructed on the old site.

The farm residence of John Fessler, three miles north of Bourbon, occupied by himself, as his wife had left him on account of dissipation, and his children all grown up and away from home, was burned to the ground at noon yesterday. Mr. Fessler's remains were found in the ruins, burned almost beyond recognition. There is no doubt that he fired the house and committed suicide.

The fogs on the Toledo, Cincinnati and St. Louis narrow gauge cases, which have come to an end, so far as this court is concerned, at least, were rather stiff.

A further decree was made last evening, ordering the payment of the following amounts: $12,600 in fees upon the two divisions; $5,000 to Charles Fairbanks for legal services; $12,500 to McDonald, Butler & Mason; $3,000 each to Master Commissioner Fishback and Receiver McNulta; $12,500 to Baker, Horst & Hendrick; $1,000 to the estate of Thomas A. Hendricks as trustee.

The Indiana Prohibition central committee, of which Col. EH P. Ritter is chairman, held a meeting at Indianapolis Thursday. There was a general sentiment in favor of placing a state ticket in the field, without waiting, as they have hitherto done, to see what concessions, if any, the other parties would make. May 26 was fixed as the time for holding the convention, and it will be held in English's opera house. It was decided to issue an address to the prohibitionists, advising them to nominate candidates for trustees in all the townships of the state where there is any possibility of securing votes and to perfect thorough organizations.

ELECTRICAL INVENTIONS.

Telegraphing Through the Air to a Flying Railroad Train.

New York, Feb. 12. Still more of the marvelous powers of the agency which we call electricity are demonstrated in the last invention for telegraphing from a moving train. The device is the joint work of W. Wiley Smith, Thomas Edison and E. T. Gililand. Edison himself, pleased as a school-boy, was aboard our train the other day when the device was tested. It is astonishingly simple, now that one knows how the invention works. The principle involved is that of "telegraphy by induction," that is, by electrical currents leading through the air. One well known fact of electricity is that it will jump through the atmosphere for a distance of over 400 feet. This property is the one taken advantage of in the new invention. The ordinary telegraph wires passing along all railway lines convey the message the lengthwise distance. Hence it jumps, when it reaches the train, from the telegraph lines to the tin roofs of the cars. These are connected by a copper wire. In a little built in one of the cars sits the telegraph operator. Over his ears he has two telephone sound receivers, as you see in the illustration.

TELEGRAPHY ON THE TRAIN.
The electric current passes from the wires through the air in waves at the rate of 500 feet per second. These form a continuous musical note. They strike the metal roofs of the car, connected by a wire. These act as an electric condenser, so called. A wire passes from them to the telephone receivers above the operator's ears. By means of these his quick ear catches the sound. By striking exceedingly quick, sharp strokes the sender is able to break the musical sound into notes. By practice he makes these short or long, as is desired. So the ear of the operator in the car catches the sounds, dot and dash, from an ordinary Morse key, and reads them. He has in the car with him an electro-magnet and a battery. When he telegraphs back the message jumps in the same manner from the roofs of the cars through the air to the wires, thence over to the station. An electric condenser and the telephone receiver enable the operator to catch the sounds.

"But does not that interfere with the ordinary messages?" asked your correspondent. "Not at all," was the answer. "This new method is telegraphy by induction, not by direct transmission."

Our party that made the trial trip with the new invention over the Staten Island railway watched the experimenting in a state of pleased excitement. It was a perfect success.

By means of this railway collisions may be avoided entirely. Its value in this respect can hardly be overestimated. During this memorable trip we discussed the bearings of the new invention on the future of railroading. For one thing it will probably break up sudden trips of bank presidents to Canada for their health. It is expected that the machine will be put into operation on routes between Canada and the United States first of all. Then a defrauded creditor can telegraph to a moving train upon any road and ascertain whether the defaulter he is looking for is on board.

HIGH COLLARS CAUSE CONSUMPTION.

If any of our dude readers have ever worn high collars, they will know with what difficulty they raise the phlegm located in the throat. The points of the collar press quite tightly against the tubes whereon the secretion is lodged, and in doing so almost close the small passages. To use an old expression, "what goes up must come down," and it is so in this case. If you wear a high collar and cannot raise the phlegm in your throat, it gradually falls down into your stomach and in the long run will produce consumption and poison the blood, besides producing and aggravating diseases of the throat.—Washington Herald.

DYING!

The Noblest Roman of Them All.

Horatio Seymour, the Farmer and Statesman, has Almost Reached the Other Shore.

The Life and Public Services of the Great Man Briefly Outlined.

GOVERNOR SEYMOUR.

The Great Statesman is Dying.

By Telegraph to the Sentinel.
UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 12.—Ex-Governor Seymour is thought to be dying. The members of his family have been hastily summoned to his bedside.

UTICA, N. Y., 2 p. m.—Ex-governor Seymour cannot survive more than an hour and may die at any moment.

Hon. Horatio Seymour was born at Pompey, Oneida county, New York, May 31, 1810. He was a college graduate, served in the New York assembly in 1841 and in 1852 was chosen governor of that state.

After a defeat in 1854 he was again elected governor in 1862. In 1868 he was nominated for the presidency and at the election Seymour and Blair received 2,703,600 votes against 3,013,188 for Grant and Colfax.

Mr. Seymour's farm home was at Dearfield near Utica.

A SUBSCRIPTION FUND

Being Raised for General Hancock's Widow.

By Telegraph to the Sentinel.
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 12.—As it became known here that General Hancock had no adequate fortune to leave his widow, a movement was set on foot to raise a fund for her benefit. The fund has been started by the gift of $1,000 each, by Messrs. A. J. Drexel and Geo. W. Childs, and these gifts have been coupled by the promise of more, if necessary.

General Hancock died poor and the fact being known to his friends and comrades, a subscription fund has been started for the widow. The plan was originated by Gen. W. F. Smith, Gen. J. B. Fry, William Barnes and J. L. Crittendon. J. Pierpont Morgan is treasurer of the fund. These sums have been signed: Samuel J. Tilden, $1,000; William R. Grace, $500. M. B. Brown, $250; J. D. Crimmins, $250. The circular accompanying the subscription paper says the general was kept poor by calls upon his official hospitality and the constant charities which he gave to those in distress.

DEATH

Claims a Famous Sporting Man.

By Telegraph to the Sentinel.
DETROIT, Feb. 12.—Capt. Samuel H. Smithers, well known to sporting men throughout the country, died here yesterday morning, of typhoid pneumonia. He was born at Gallopis, Ohio, sixty years ago and was for a long time a steamboat captain between Pittsburgh and New Orleans. An army paymaster, named Cook, gambled away $300,000 of government money in Cincinnati during the war, and Smithers being in the game was obliged to visit Canada. By furnishing valuable information from rebel fugitives in that country, he gained leave of the federal government to return unmolested, and since that time has lived here, being known as the owner of a number of fast horses during the last fifteen years. He leaves a widow and an estate valued at $30,000.

Acquitted.

By Telegraph to the Sentinel.
HUNTINGTON, IND., Feb. 12.—The case of Krieg and Heitz, charged with manslaughter, was given to the jury to-day, at 11:40, a. m., and at 1:30 they returned a verdict of not guilty. The case was in relation to the death of Policeman Kinkade last May. Kinkade attempted to arrest Krieg, a fight ensued, and the policeman fell out of the wagon where the fight was in progress, receiving injuries which resulted in his death.

A Striker Arrested.

By Telegraph to the Sentinel.
MOUNT PLEASANT, Pa., Feb. 12.—Peter Wino, president of the strikers' organization, was arrested this morning and taken to the Uniontown jail. Charges of riot and assault will be preferred against him.

A City Submerged.

By Telegraph to the Sentinel.
NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Feb. 12.—The

WORKSHOP HINTS.

To cement leather on iron use the following: Add about one-fifth in bulk of boiled linseed oil to melted glue, when it will be found to be tough.

A good method of holding long bars of iron, such as sled shoes, so that the holes can be drilled in them easily by one person, is as follows: Take a strong quarter-inch cord or rope and fasten it to the ceiling about five, six or seven feet from the drilling machine. Then fasten a pound nut on the end of the rope and let it reach nearly to the floor. When you wish to drill iron, wrap the rope around the iron once at the height you want, and you will find it a very handy tool. You can drive a nail so as to hang it up out of the way when not in use.

A country blacksmith gives the following method for putting cast steel in axes and for welding and tempering it. He welds with borax melted into a kind of hard, glassy substance, and then pulverized to a powder in a mortar. He uses a solution of chalk, salt and sal ammoniac in water, though he usually discards it for clear water. Hammer mill picks swell in water, and when they are cooled off dress them up nice and true with a file, leaving the center a little full, then temper in cold water without drawing down at all. Many tools are damaged by heating too hot in tempering. If steel is heated too hot it is impossible to temper it so it will hold a good edge.

Varnish is the only material for suspending brushes in. Oil, turpentine, and the like may be the favorite of the painter, but he makes a mistake, and if he will change from the old-time oil and varnish in his varnish-brush keeper, he will never regret it. Keep the paint brushes suspended in salt water, the four color brushes grained and nicely laid away in a box or drawer, the varnish tools in the same kind of varnish you are to use them in, and under no circumstances allow water, oil, or turpentine to touch them.

For cleaning brass use powdered rotten-stone. Put it into a pint of water, add a teaspoonful of sulphuric acid, apply, then rub off and polish with whiting. To clean steel use emery powder mixed with turpentine.—Blacksmith and Wheelwright.

NELSON'S COAT.

In the Sailors' Hospital at Greenwich, England, there is a collection of curiosities, among which is exhibited Nelson's coat, in which he was killed at the battle of Trafalgar. It will be remembered that at that memorable battle Nelson refused to remove a large star from his breast, and the beautiful order was the means of his death, for it was made the aim of a Frenchman's bullet. The blood-stains where the order had lain remain to this day a memento of his bravery.

Writing from Paris a correspondent relates the following curious story: "Two French women entered into a contest to determine which of them could talk fastest. A common friend was appointed umpire, and the sum of 1,000 francs was to go to the victor. For three hours they read from Eugene Sue's feuilleton, and during that time the victor succeeded in pronouncing 226,311 words. Her adversary came in a bad second with 203,500 words."

I would hereby express my favorable opinion of your goods from benefit derived, writes Rev. Jacob D. Wyandt, of Justus, O., in sending an order for Athlephoros, after a trial of it as a remedy for rheumatism and neuralgia.

MANSFIELD, O., Feb. 12.—The large West Side skating-rink, where Francis Murphy has been holding temperance meetings, burned to the ground. The fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary. The loss will be $5,000. Arrangements have been made to hold the meetings in the churches, and no breaking in the temperance work will occur.

An Insult to Judge Tourgee.

By Telegraph to the Sentinel.
LOGANSPORT, Feb. 12.—During Judge Tourgee's lecture at the opera house some one induced two small boys to black their faces and walk out on the stage. The first time the youngsters appeared they carried a broken pitcher and tumbler, and placed them on the stand beside the lecturer's side, but he paid no particular attention to them. In a short time they came to the front again, and the distinguished gentleman ordered them off the stage. It is thought that some partisan fool urged the youngsters.

Ladies

Do you want a pure, blooming complexion? If so, a few applications of Hagan's MAGNOLIA BALM will gratify you to your heart's content. It does away with sallowness, Redness, Pimples, blotches, and all diseases and imperfections of the skin. It overcomes the flushed appearance of heat, fatigue and excitement. It makes a lady of THIRTY appear but TWENTY; and so natural, gradual, and perfect are its effects, that it is impossible to detect its application.

REMINISCENCES OF PUBLIC MEN.

BY BEN: PENLEY POORE.

John C. Rives, who died in April, 1864, came to Washington during Gen. Jackson's administration as a clerk in the Treasury. He was an expert with the rifle, and his good shooting at a match on the White House lot was the beginning of his acquaintance with Frank Blair, with whom he was for many years in partnership. He subsequently originated the publication of the debates in Congress in the Globe, and amassed a fortune, which his sons soon spent for him after his decease. He was a man of ungracious presence but of gracious nature, who came upon the stage of public life here just as the stars of the last century were passing away, and his true heart was always inspired by recollections of their pure and virtuous examples. He was industrious. He was upright. He was sincere. The poor deeply mourned his loss, and hosts of friends missed his rough-hewn, ungainly, awkward figure, which enshrined a noble heart. The names of departed heroes and of statesmen are written upon enduring bronze and stately marble, but the monument of John C. Rives is his series of congressional reports, which will doubtless be perpetuated, not only "in memoriam" but pro bono publico.

Early in the war a number of ladies sojourning in Washington undertook to organize an association called "The Order of the Bee," which bound its members not to purchase any imported goods until peace had been conquered. Mrs. Lincoln, on being asked to join, expressed much interest in the proposed reform, but said that she should like to consult her husband before signing. She invited the committee to accompany her to ask him, and after they had explained the project to Mr. Lincoln, who heard them with his usual patience, he asked: "But how is this to affect the public revenue, ladies? Government needs just now every dollar that it can rake or scrape, and those very imported goods that you propose to dispense with form a large item of the receipts at the Treasury. How do you propose to make up the deficiency which you will create?" This was a poser, and the proposed "Bee" did not "improve the shining hour."

Governor Corwin used to tell a good story about an attempt made by a young newspaper man to "interview" him concerning the formation of Mr. Lincoln's cabinet. The young man sent up his card, was invited up, accepted an offered seat, and, after a few commonplace remarks, said that he came "to see if Mr. Corwin couldn't tell him something about Mr. Lincoln." "Sir," said Mr. Corwin, "I do not understand you. What is it you wish to know?" "Why, something about Mr. Lincoln and his cabinet. Are you to have a place? Tell me something about yourself." "Oh! ah! yes!" quoth Mr. Corwin, "well, I'll tell you, sir, as for Mr. Lincoln, I don't know anything about his intentions; but, so far as I am concerned, I'll tell you something about myself, confidentially—not to be published under any circumstances. It is this: Last night I stole two silver watches—silver, mind you, for I don't steal gold watches. The night before I stole six, and the night before that I stole two; and I've given some of them to the niggers about me. I'm in the habit of stealing silver watches to give to niggers. Now, don't put that in your paper, for it might injure me. It's confidential! Good evening, sir!"

One would imagine that such a rebuff would make a thin-skinned man to commit suicide, but the young man with "a nose for news" was not abashed, and meeting Mr. Corwin the next day, he took him one side and asked him "if Chief Justice Taney had really resigned?" "My dear young friend," said Mr. Corwin, pathetically, "the death of a friend and the resignation of a judge are such melancholy themes I can't bear to think of them. Good morning, sir!"

One of the most enjoyable dinner parties ever given in Washington was that which Senator Hear gave in January, 1882, when he invited a distinguished party of gentlemen to meet Justice Gray, just appointed to the bench of the Supreme Court. The dinner was given at the private hotel of Mr. Worreley, and the guests assembled in a parlor containing much of the furniture which adorned the house of Senator Sumner. On the wall were the portraits of Charles Sumner and Samuel Hooper, and the yellow satin damask furniture was made under Mr. Sumner's personal direction when he fitted up the house in which he passed the closing years of his life. The guests assembled about 7 o'clock, and after an exchange of salutations the large doors, which form one side of the room, were thrown open, and Senator Hear informally invited those present to gather around the magnificently furnished table which appeared. Covers were laid for thirty-six persons, and the china, the silver and the glass were all rare and of beautiful design. A belt of flowers encircled the table in front of the plates, and within this enclosure were mounds of rare exotics and quaintly-constructed ornaments of confectionery. The place of each guest was marked by a card on which his name was printed, and on which was an exquisite buttonhole bouquet. The bills of fare were on large sheets of cardboard, handsomely engraved, and the succession of thirteen courses, beginning with oysters and ending with coffee, was an epicurean treat worthy of the culinary artists of Paris. The dinner was served in Russian style, and the dishes, after having been carved, were carried around by waiters who handed them successively to each guest. President Arthur sat at the host's right hand in accordance with Washington etiquette, and on his right hand sat Judge Gray. At the left of the host sat Chief Justice Waite; directly opposite sat Senator Dawes; at the right-hand end of the long table was George Bancroft, and at the left-hand end was Representative Harris. There was not, of course, any speech-making or drinking of healths, but after the dessert had been served gentlemen left their seats and sat in little groups around the table, chatting pleasantly until after midnight. Taken as a whole, dinner and guests, it was the finest entertainment I have ever seen in Washington, and I have seen a great many.

ON A TOBACCO PLANTATION.

After the harvest is over, the time of the laborers is given up entirely to the tobacco, which has now grown to a fair size. Their first task is to "sucker" it—that is, cut away the shoots that spring up at the intersection of each leaf and the stalk, and which, if left to grow, would absorb half the strength of the plant. They also examine the leaves very carefully, to destroy the eggs and young of the tobacco-fly. Day after day they go over the same fields, finding newly-laid eggs and newly-hatched young, where only twelve hours before they brushed their counterpane off to be trampled under foot. As the tobacco ripens it becomes brittle to the touch and is covered with dark yellow spots, and when this appears it is still further developed the time for cutting has arrived, which generally is the first month in autumn, and always before frost, which is fatal to this as to every other weed. The plant is now about three feet in height, with eight or nine large leaves, the stalk having been broken off at the top in the second stage of its growth. On the appointed day a dozen or more men with coarse knives split the stalk straight down its middle to within half a foot of the ground. They then strike the plant from the soil and lay it on one side. The leaves soon shrink under the rays of the sun and fall. One of the laborers who follow the cutters then it takes up and places it with nine or ten other plants on a stick, which is thrust through the angle formed by the two halves of the plant separated from each other except at one end. It is deposited with the rest in an open ox-cart and transported to the barn. In the barn, poles have been arranged in tiers from bottom to top to support the stalks; and when the building is full of tobacco, the laborer in charge ignites the logs that fill parallel trenches in the dirt floor, and a high rate of temperature is soon produced, and is maintained for several days, during which a watch is kept to replenish the flames and prevent conflagration. As soon as the tobacco has changed from a deep green to a light brown, it is removed on a wet day to the general barn. The same process of curing is going on in many barns on the same plantation, and occasionally one is burned down; for the tobacco is very inflammable, a stray spark from below being sufficient to set the whole on fire.

The hands are as busy in winter in manipulating the tobacco, which has been stored away in one large barn, and preparing it for market, the first step toward which is to strip the leaves from the stalk and then carefully separate those of an inferior from those of a superior quality. Although there are many grades, the negroes are able to distinguish them at a glance and assort them accordingly. They are not engaged in this work of selection continuously from day to day, but at intervals, for they can handle the tobacco only when the weather is damp enough to moisten the leaf, otherwise it is so brittle that it would crack and fall to pieces under their touch. They like this work, for the barn is kept very comfortable by large stoves, they do not have to move from their seats, and they can sit very sociably together talking, laughing, and singing. It contrasts very agreeably with other work which they are called upon to do at this season—namely, the grubbing of new grounds, from which they shrink with unconcealed repugnance, for outside of a mine there is no kind of labor more arduous or exacting. The land cleared is that from which the original forest has been cut, leaving stumps thickly scattered over the surface, from which a heavy scrub-growth springs up. Active, quick, and industrious as the negroes may be in the tobacco, corn or wheat fields, they show here great indolence, and move forward very slowly with their hoes, axes, and picks, piling up, as they advance, masses of roots, saplings, stumps, and brush, which, when dry, are set on fire and consumed. The soil exposed is a rich, but thin loam of decayed leaves, in which tobacco grows with luxuriance.—Lippincott's Magazine.

Chicago's Grant Monument.
[Special Correspondence.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—The design for a monument to Gen. Grant has been selected. It is the one submitted by Mr. Whitehouse, of this city. It will cost $50,000 and is to be erected in Lincoln park.

BROADSIDE VIEW OF STATUE.

The principal features of Mr. Whitehouse's design are a solid terrace wall pierced by a massive granite arch which passes beneath the elevated roadway. This arch is to be 60 feet long and constructed of granite, and connects the Lake Shore walk with the main walks surrounding the artificial lake in the center of the park. This arched way affords a beautiful vista, looking east and west, and is faced by a granite terrace 150 feet long, with two flights of steps connecting the lower walk with the roadbed above. On this roadbed, and above the footway of it, is a massive granite structure 50x18 feet, forming a covered terrace, through which the footway passes. The side walls of this terrace are pierced by small arched openings, giving a fine view of Lake Michigan from the one side and the park from the other. Surmounting the whole is the solid granite base for the colossal bronze statue of Gen. Grant, making a total height of 43 feet from the lower roadway to the bottom of the statue. The entire work will be solid and massive, and constructed exclusively of blocks of granite, a durable emblem of the character of the man in memory of whom the memorial is built.

From the terrace, where carriages can stand as well as pedestrians, will be a view almost unique, as looking to the west one sees the spires and high buildings of the city, while to the east is seen the lake, making a beautiful background for the sharply cut outline of the statue. Work is to be begun as soon as the weather will permit.

About forty plans were submitted, and this design was selected on account of its originality as well as general excellence. The committee has $45,000, and say they will need about $5,000 more, and it is proposed to have the best bronze statue that can be procured. It is estimated that the statue alone will cost $15,000. The remaining $35,000 is to be expended on the terrace.

Great Reduction in Prices for 1886.

Goods are so low now that it can hardly be expected that there will be any further decline, so that those laying in full supplies will not likely be disappointed.

Coffee Down 2c, Tea Down 10c, Sugars Down 1-2c, Syrups Down 10c, Turkish Prunes Down 1c.

Best Rio Coffee down to 10c a pound; good Rio coffee down to 8c a pound; best Roasted Rio down to 12c a pound; Government Java, 30c.; Roasted Java 25c.

TEAS Reduced in Proportion.

It is no more a luxury to buy Teas. When they were $1 and $2 per pound then of course the consumption of them was small, but now the price is so low that a good Tea can be bought at 25c per pound then they came within the reach of all.

We are unable to do so low a price for the consequence of our immense trade. At three we sell two and three chests daily, and buying direct of the importers and selling direct to the consumer, enables us to save our customers the profits of the jobber, speculator and wholesale merchant which is at least 10 to 20 per cent.

Good, 30c; choice, 35c; best, 40c; Gunpowder, good, 20c; choice, 25c; best, 30c; Oolong or Black Tea, 30c; choice, 35c; best, 40c; Japan Tea, uncolored, 30c; choice, 35c; best, 40c; English Breakfast, good, 20c; choice, 25c; best, 30c.

SUGARS—White and Yellow, Down 1-2c.

Cut Leaf Sugar, 7 1/2c per pound; Powdered Sugar, 7 1/2c; Granulated, 7c; Coffee A, 6 1/2c; Coffee C White, 6c; choice New Orleans Yellow, 6c.

Syrups Reduced 10c a Gal.

Best Golden Drip, 40c per gallon; best Sorghum, 40c per gallon; best New Orleans, Molasses, 30c.

SMOKED MEATS AND PICKLED PORKS.

Best sugar cured hams, 10c per pound; Sugar cured shoulders, 8c per pound; Pickled pork 6c per pound; Breakfast bacon, best, 9c per pound.

SALT AND SMOKED FISH.

White Fish, 40c lb.; White Fish in kits, 41c; Family White Fish, kits, 50c; Family White Fish, 40c; Salted Sockeye Salmon, 60c; good, 51c; best, 51c; Cat Fish, kits, 51c; Cat Fish, 40c lb.; 40c lb.

Fish Oil, Lard Oil, Neats Foot Oil, Machine Oils and Head Light

Neats Foot Oil, 80c gallon; Fish Oil, 70c gallon; Headlight oil, 12c gallon; machine Oil dark, 2c gallon; Golden machine oil, 30c gallon.

WINES AND LIQUORS.

Old 75 Whisky for medicinal use, $2.50 per gallon; two-year old, $1.75; one-year old, $1.40; good new whisky, $1.40 and $1 per gallon; California wine, Muscatel and Angelico, 40c bottle; Port Wine per gallon, $1.25; gallon Catawba wine, $1; gallon Old Tom Gin, 40c; bottle California malt, 30c.

Candies Down—Stick and Mixed Reduced 2c per Pound.

Pure Stick Candy, 10c. per pound; French Mixed Candy, down to 10c; Bon Bons, 20c; Gum Drops, 10c; Importers and Chocolate down to 15c per pound.

The Greatest Reduction of all is on Turkish Prunes.

Who ever heard of them selling at 4c per pound. The crop is so large that they can't pay freight and a duty to ship to New York. The very best new fruit 4c per pound; new Valencia Smoking, 12c, 20c, 30c; best Durham, 45c per pound. (Choice Cigars, $1.75 per box; good cigars, 50c and $1 per box.)

Another Sharon Case.

"Lucky" Baldwin, the California millionaire, seems looked for a prolonged litigation experience very similar to that which has assailed the late Senator Sharon till the day of his death. The Sarah Althea in Mr. Baldwin's instance is a Miss Louise O. Perkins, who claims to have suffered in her feelings through the perfidious attentions of the millionaire, the latter, as she alleges, having promised to marry her. As the said promise was renounced from time to time, after the manner of a promissory note, after the fashion of the latter, Mr. Baldwin regulated sentiment by business, and that his ardent passion for the fair Perkins rose or fell according to the tone of the market in mining shares. She bore with his inconstancy for five years, and then she sued him for $50,000—just $100,000 per annum, $5,000 per calendar month or $255 a day. As they reckon these things in California, this may not be an exorbitant sum for a young lady to assess as the value of her time consumed in frivolous amusements, but a good many years must elapse before courtship in the east is conducted on the same solid business basis, which must strike many people as rather expensive, even with the most liberal allowances for fuel and gas thrown in.—New York Star.

Morrison and the Hon. Tim Campbell.

Morrison, the great free trade international reductionist, was anxious to carry Campbell's vote in his pocket. He invited Campbell to dine with him. After they had inspected the bill of fare, Morrison asked Campbell what he would have to begin on. The statesman from Gotham is said to have replied: "I don't see good enough for me for a starter."—New York Tribune.

Mrs. Herman Nathan, daughter of Mr. A. Oppenheimer, of this city, is very sick at her home in Chicago and her relatives have hastened to her bedside.

Mr. Henry Colerick, Mr. Will Oppenheim and Prosecuting Attorney O. M. Dawson argued the Boyle case before the supreme court at Indianapolis to-day.

The presentation of the operetta, "The Land of Pie," under the auspices of the Rector's Aid society of Trinity church, has been postponed until one week from to-morrow.

It is now proposed to extend the T. D. and W. branch of the narrow gauge road to Van Wert. Then the line will be built through Indiana and on across to Fort Wayne.

Another dead body, purchased below Indianapolis, came in this morning for the Fort Wayne Medical college. The students are now supplied and eagerly pick the human frame to pieces.

The indications for the lower lake region, as reported by the weather bureau at Washington to THE SENTINEL, are as follows: Cloudy, local rains, stationary, followed by slight fall in temperature.

The famous comedian, Mr. J. B. Polk, who will be seen at the Temple opera house next Wednesday evening in his great comedy success, "Mixed Pickles," comes directly from Chicago, where he is nightly pucking the Grand opera house.

Nellie Kenninger, who came here from Toledo with her mother, was deformed by an attack of typhoid fever. Dr. M. P. Porter has the child in a plaster of paris cast at the St. Joe hospital and hopes to restore her to her former perfection of body.

Some Wabash employees have been discharged at Peru. No causes assigned, but the supposition is that the decapitated individuals "budged" too freely. The Wabash road is determined to have nothing to do with men who drink, as the experiment is too dangerous.

A large black bear was seen one day last week some few miles northwest of Rounoke. The man who states he saw the animal says he has killed and helped to kill a number of bears and knows this was a bear. The animal crossed the road before him and passed into the woods, just north of the Robin's saw mill, in Whitley county.

Messrs. O. A. Simons and A. D. Cressler have recently purchased and brought to this city one of the handsomest and best bred young trotting stallions in the west, "Hiatoga Wilkes" son of "Ambassador," he by "George Wilkes," the greatest son living or dead of the old hero of Chester, "Rysdyk Hambletonian." "Hiatoga Wilkes" is five years old, a rich seal brown in color, sixteen hands high and both hind ankles white.

The Wabash railway company don't propose to be pestered with garnishers for wages, as a recent circular issued by that company will cause its employees to be prompt in the payment of their own debts. The circular is as follows: "To all employees on the rolls of this station: Any person whose name appears on the rolls of this station, and who owes any debts that will naturally come to this office on claims against said individual, must either satisfy said claim at once or resign his position. This rule will be imperative, as the management of this company does not want to employ men who will not pay their honest debts. Any employee who places himself or herself in a position to be garnished will at once be discharged."

The Grand Rapids pay car will arrive to-morrow.

Freight engine 1892 was taken out of the Wabash shops to-day.

W. P. Griffith, of Terre Haute, is a guest at the Avenue house.

Mr. John H. Bass, Dr. Loag and J. R. Carey returned from Chicago last night.

The funeral of the infant daughter of Wm. P. Kindt occurred this afternoon.

The Nickel Plate and Pittsburg engines race between Hobart and Valparaiso.

Mrs. George Ewing and her sister, Miss Puss Sweetzer, left for New York last evening.

Dr. C. B. Stomen will address the assembly at the temperance tabernacle, on Harrison street, to-night.

The "Shadows of a Great City" drew another big assembly last night. To-night and to-morrow night they appear at Lafayette.

Professor Deidrich, of the Concordia college, will return to the city in a few days. The operation on his foot was an entire success.

The deep interest in the revival services at the Barry street M. E. church still continues. Prof. Smith will address the meeting to-night.

Supt. and Mrs. W. W. Worthington give a progressive euchre party to their friends, at their pleasant West Berry street home, this evening.

The three-year old son of Nicholas Muller, of No. 296 East Washington street, died this morning from brain fever and will be buried Sunday.

Joseph Kress, a farm hand employed by Warren Robinson, of Pleasant township, was arrested to-day for assaulting Mrs. Robinson. Justice Ryan fined the young man.

Deputy Sheriff Wm. Shrader took Patrick Deegan to the state insane hospital to-day. It is expected that a brief treatment there will restore the man to perfect health.

Mrs. Mary Hilker, who fell on the sidewalk on Calhoun street some time ago and broke her knee-cap, is improving nicely and is now able to walk about in her apartments. She will entirely recover.

Edward, the infant son of James and Ellen Kline, died this morning at 11 o'clock. The funeral will take place on Sunday at 1 o'clock. Friends of the family are invited to attend without further notice.

Hon. W. B. Duryea, who was killed on the Richmond road yesterday, was the only democratic member of the common council of Portland, was a member of the G. A. R., and a man of much prominence in his section. He will be buried at Portland.

The Princess rink will be open on Saturday night for a general skate, and ladies will be admitted free. On Monday and Tuesday the Russian skaters will be the attraction, and on Wednesday and Thursday the Princess polo team will play the Galesburg polo club.

Dr. Meyer, once a resident of this city and later of Chicago, against whom the charge was made that he had attempted to poison his first wife, has secured a divorce from his second wife and has just returned from Germany and will resume the practice of his profession at Berne, Adams county.

The St. Bernard Branch, Catholic Knights of America, received a handsome silk flag from St. Mary's Catholic church. Mr. James Summers did the oratorical honors. The flag bears the emblem of the Catholic Knights and the name of the commandery. Later its reception will be signalized by a banquet.

The Gazette does County Commissioner John H. Braunan a grievous wrong this morning in stating that he "drew $165 from the county" and will have to disgorge. Mr. Braunan has made but $66 all told, since he went into office, and not a cent of it was illegal or for extra services. The Gazette, of course, will correct the error.

The poultry show continues to draw. The judge, Mr. J. Y. Bickwell, of Buffalo, N. Y., who receives five dollars per day for his services, commenced making awards yesterday and expects to conclude his work to-morrow morning. To-morrow will be school children's day and all the children of the city will be admitted to the show for five cents each.

Mr. H. C. Rockhill will arrive from Kentucky this evening, with six thoroughbred horses. The famous stallion "Strathmore" is owned jointly by Messrs. H. C. Rockhill, Will Fleming and Willis Bash. Messrs. Rockhill and Fleming own three fine brood mares. Mr. Bash owns a promising colt and Mr. W. L. Curnahan has a bundy saddle horse.

Only three more opportunities will be presented to witness the dramatization of Mrs. Stowe's world famous novel, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" as presented by the Maxwell company at the Academy. As we have stated before, this company is one of the very best ever seen in this city and the house will doubtless be crowded to-night and to-morrow afternoon. At the children's matinee to-morrow afternoon school children will be admitted to any part of the house for 10 cents.

Beef is offered for sale daily on the market square.

The matinee at the Academy this afternoon was well attended.

Mrs. Michael Nolligan, who has been very sick, is improving slowly.

A Pittsburg switch engine lost a tire off one of its driving wheels to-day and is crippled.

"The Shadows of a Great City" will be seen at McVicker's theatre, Chicago, next week.

A. P. Essig, who manages the mail wagon between the postoffice and depot, is very sick with rheumatism.

The Little River ditch will be sold to-morrow by Mr. W. W. Shoaff, atty office of County Surveyor Wiley.

"Ed E. Wood, of Fort Wayne, was here on business yesterday. He brought up a convict," says the Michigan City Dispatch.

Anrilla Kigney, the woman who was discovered to be insane at the north side depot, was sent to Laurel, Ind., by Sheriff Nelson to-day.

"The Fort Wayne Sentinel," under the management of Mr. Hackett, is one of the best daily and weekly papers in Indiana," says the Monroeville Breeze.

The number of section men on railroads, which was cut down last fall, will soon be increased again, as there is more work to do in the spring of the year than any other season.

All letters and sealed valentines are subject to a postage of two cents per ounce. Unsealed valentines without writing can be mailed at one cent per ounce. This is a pointer to the public.

The Pennsylvania company has some 5,000 empty coke cars idle on the side tracks, as a result of the strike east. If it continues long it will certainly unfavorably effect their earnings for February.

Mr. John H. Ormsby, candidate for clerk of Wells county, was in the city to-day. Mr. Ormsby is a sterling democrat, personally popular and a gentleman everywhere. He will be elected by a rousing majority.

Some railroaders with a mathematical turn of mind has discovered that the whistling of a locomotive engine requires a waste of steam equal to 250 pounds of coal a day, and that the average expense of each railroad for maintaining the nuisance is $15,000 a year.

Sam Purman, employed in the office of the engineer of the Nickel Plate railway, was shaking hands with the boys Sunday. Sam is the same jolly boy whom we all admire, and are glad to see his pleasant face on our streets," says the Monroeville Breeze.

Druggist Wm. Meyer, wife and daughter Paulina, Miss Lena Meyer, and Mrs. Dr. Siegan, went to St. Louis this afternoon, to attend the wedding of Mr. Frederick Sibilor, son of the late Rev. Dr. Sibilor, of this city, and Miss Matilda Meyer, daughter of Druggist Meyer, of St. Louis. The marriage will take place to-morrow.

"Charles A. Munson, of Fort Wayne, is the city to-day. Mr. Munson is a very formidable candidate for the democratic nomination for auditor of state. He is Jack Robinson's equal on entertaining a gathering, and if witicism counted for the nomination and election Mr. Munson would be the next auditor of state," says the Michigan City Dispatch.

Emel Wenzel, a brakeman on the main line of the Wabash, while coupling cars a week ago, met with a severe accident, having several ribs broken and his right arm crushed so badly that it was necessary to amputate it. He also sustained internal injuries, which resulted in his death at the home of his sister in Logansport, where he was buried yesterday.

The attachment suit of Charles W. Van Esen against the "Uncle Tom's Cabin" party came up before Justice France to-day on a change of venue. There was some controversy over the authority of Capt. Hugh M. Diehl, as special constable, but this was smoothed over and the "Uncle Tom" people offered to compromise the claim of $106, by paying $65 cash. This proposition Mr. Van Esen was inclined to accept.

THEY WERE GOBBLED.

A Brace of Thieves Behind the Bars in Default of $300 Each.

Mrs. Sarah Clay, wife of Henry Clay, of the Bass foundry, and who lives at 177 Hanna street, in the east end, employs Mrs. Mary Kraus, a neighbor, to do her washing. Mrs. Kraus had the clothes on her premises. Last evening two tramps stole the choicest underwear from the line and made away with it. Deputy Sheriff Clausmeyer was speedily after the rascals, but they were shady until night-fall, when the fellows ran square into the arms of Police Officer Frank Rohle. He looked the men up and this morning they registered at police court as Geo. Parker and James Edwards. Mayor Muhler heard the case against them, and committed them to jail to await trial, in default of $300 bail each. The stolen clothes are worth from $8 to $10, and it looks as though the vags will pass a season or two on the shores of the lake, at Michigan City.

THEY COME HIGH.

But Loving Swains and Lipping Maids Must Have Their St. Valentine Souvenirs.

The weather is cloudy, but that fact stops not the pretty dandel in her search for a souvenir for St. Valentine's day. The book-stores were thronged yesterday and to-day by the fairest women. Men sort of sneak into these places at night, and a dude will lounge about a door way for an hour, until he sees the Valentine counter deserted.

The old style "cupid business" is out of date and hand painted plush or satin souvenirs are proper. They range in price from 25 cents to $20 and a Calhoun street dealer yesterday exhibited a bit of satin with a sleeping cupid lying in a bank of flowers. The price of this was $15. There was not so much satin for the money as was contained in a large fan, price $7, nor was the painting so good as on the fan. There did not seem to be much logic in the prices. Another very pretty trifle was a fan-shaped design of silk plush and white satin, trimmed with swan's down, lace and silk cords. This was decorated with a landscape surrounded by flowers that bloom in the spring. Its cost was $10, tra-la. Another valentine sat on an easel. It was a painting on satin, and on the metal scroll was the information, "I'll be your valentine," price only $8. Handkerchief boxes, bird's nests, jockey caps, bronze reliefs set in plush frames are among the expensive articles. There are many pretty and cheaper things and the maiden whose lover lets her sigh in vain for a love token on St. Valentine's day should "get a new boy," there will be no excuse for such shameless neglect.

Statistics of the Railroad Reading Rooms for 1885.

The following figures are taken from the annual report of the room and library committee of the R. R. Y. M. C. A. for the year ending February 1, 1886:

Henry W. Bond, wholesale dealer in Flour, Chop Feed, Bread, Cakes and Confectionary and manufacturer of Bond's Boston Brown Bread Meal, will on and after Feb. 15, occupy No. 224 Calhoun street, between Douglas avenue and Bruckner street, with a large supply of the above. I solicit the patronage of my present customers and all others who may find the new stand convenient, and will furnish them with the best goods in the market, at the lowest prices. HENRY W. BOND. 10M

The operetta "The Three Little Kittens of the Land of Pie," which was to have been presented at Standard Hall to-morrow, is postponed until Saturday of next week.

ANNUAL MEETING

Of the Fort Wayne, Peoria and Galesburg Officers.

The annual meeting of the stockholders and directors of the Fort Wayne, Peoria and Galesburg Railway company was held at Peoria yesterday. H. M. Williams, of Fort Wayne, was elected president; Edwin Evans, of Fort Wayne, vice president; C. P. King, of Peoria, secretary, and Martin Kingman, of Peoria, treasurer. The road is one of the projects that still exist on paper, but is bound to be built. Aid has been voted the line in this county and the right of way has all been secured between Fort Wayne and Peoria.

The Seaman's Friend.

Mr. Samuel Plimsoll, a man who is known the world over as the seaman's friend, and who until last November was a member of the English parliament, is now visiting this country. His name is identified with the little circle in white paint, divided in the center by a line of white, which appears on the hulls of all British ships, marking the line to which a vessel may be safely loaded.

The affixing of this mark was made compulsory by an act of parliament, in the passage of which Mr. Plimsoll was the prime mover, the object of the law being to protect seamen from the dangers of shipping on vessels which, through the cupidity of owners, had been overloaded. To load a ship until this mark is submerged is a punishable offense, and Mr. Plimsoll's efforts to secure the passage of the bill earned him the appellation of "the British sailor's friend." Mr. Plimsoll is accompanied by his wife, and will go directly to Florida, where he contemplates investing in land. He is a vigorous gentleman, past middle age, above the middle height, with a florid face framed with well-trimmed silver hair and beard. In manner he is courteous, and speaks with earnestness and precision.

A FARM-HOUSE IN NORWAY.

The first impression of a Norwegian farmstead is not very favorable. A cluster of houses, small and aged, crowd around a large dwelling-house, which generally looks somewhat dilapidated. But this appearance is deceptive, for the walls being of wood, they look old in a few years, and become blotched and seared by the weather. The roof is of the same material, or, in the case of the principal building, either of red tile or slab. Sometimes the dwelling-house is painted white, when the effect is to relieve the sombre aspect of the group. The walls are usually stout and thoroughly waterproof, plank about four inches thick being used in their construction. These planks are placed edgewise on one another, crossed and countersunk at the angles, and calked in the seams with dry moss. A skin of thin wood is placed on the outside, while the interior is lined smoothly with boards. Inside there is an air of comfort and cleanliness. A table stands in the center of the chief room, and along the wall a bench runs, which serves for chairs, of which there is usually a deficiency. From pots on the floor ivy is sometimes trained upward to the roof, giving the room a festive and refreshing look. Not unfrequently the worthy farmer is proud to have the dresses of his daughters hung in conspicuous positions, in order that swains who call may see that the damsels are well provided with garments in case of a matrimonial alliance. The cow-houses are generally an improvement on those usually seen in England and Scotland. The building is larger and more space is allowed to each animal, while a clean wooden floor is ordinarily beneath the animal. Little or no bedding is given. The level of the cow-house is in most cases raised high enough to allow of a space beneath, into which the refuse is regularly swept through an opening in the floor.
